TRULY INVISIBLE BRACES

Let's get one thing straight, orthodontics has come a long way. Your journey to a gorgeous smile is now faster and can be achieved more discreetly than ever before. If you've resisted or procrastinated having your teeth straightened, it's the perfect time to visit the office of Dr. Frank Mogavero to explore the option that's right for you.

Dr. Mogavero Orthodontics in San Clemente is hosting a free Scan and Smile Design Day on July 28, 2022. Teens and adults will have the opportunity to receive all-digital, high-resolution intraoral scans of their teeth at no charge. With digital scans, gooey trays and uncomfortable experiences are a thing of the past. Each Scan Day patient will have their digital scans evaluated by Dr. Mogavero himself. No referrals are needed to attend, and you may simply sign up at syncyoursmile.com/contact-us/request-an-appointment or by phone.

Have you ever wondered if Invisalign or InBrace would work for you? Scan Day is the perfect time to ask questions and to learn about the various straightening methods available. Dr. Mogavero offers Invisalign, InBrace, and several other options, but in his 32 years of practice, none has dazzled him like InBrace. He was one of the first South County orthodontists to offer the "hidden" InBrace system, and he recently reached a new milestone with the Irvine-based company. "My team and I have treated over 125 cases with InBrace," says Dr. Mogavero. "We're so impressed with Gen 2.0

[the latest version] because it's even better and more efficient than the original."

What is InBrace, exactly? Pictured on the cover with Dr. Mogavero, Co-founder and Chief Medical Officer John Pham says their flagship InBrace solution is all about making up for lost time. "InBrace allows people who have always wanted teeth straightening, but never got it, to create a perfect smile without the look of traditional braces. InBrace can do a treatment 30 to 50 percent faster than traditional braces. No one wants to look worse before they look better. InBrace allows you to look better and enjoy your smile from day one," says Pham.

Developed at the University of Southern California by Pham and his team, InBrace is proudly manufactured in the U.S.A. It's a premium product that Orange County residents have 'embraced' and are willing to invest in because it works so quickly. "Especially when it's being done by a great orthodontist like Dr. Mogavero," Pham adds.

InBrace patients notice a difference in their smiles right away, and so do their siblings. Davis Vasconcellos, brother of pro skater Nora Vasconcellos, received InBrace in March. When Nora saw him last month, she was amazed, "I never expected him to have results so fast!"

"InBrace has provided insanely fast results, I have a completely new smile only two months into treatment and all my friends noticed the change immediately!"

"No one wants to look worse before they look better. That's the beauty of InBrace."

Of course, orthodontics is important for the entire family, and now that school's out, it's the ideal time to schedule your child's appointment. Dr. Mogavero advises that children should visit the orthodontist for their first exam when they are seven years old. Even if teeth positioning isn't a concern, he can examine a child's airway and treat them for breathing or snoring issues.

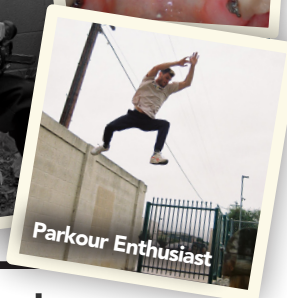

Kids of all ages love visiting Dr. Mogavero's snow and skate-themed San Clemente office, where they can sit in one of three real ski lift chairs from Mammoth Mountain, and marvel at the autographed skateboards and snowboards from megastars in each sport. At Dr. Mogavero's office, Olympic medalists are also patients, so you may be smiling next to one of the best athletes in the world!
